Winemaking

In the winery, the grapes are destalked and slightly crushed. The fermentation temperatures are controlled up to 28-29°C and the de-vatting is fast when it is perceived that the color extraction has reached optimal levels. Subsequently, the wine is put into the barrels, where it will remain for 14-16 months. The wine is aged 70% of the time in new American oak barrels and 30% in "second-year" French barrels.

Tasting note

Intense red cherry color. Aromas of red fruits, strawberry, raspberry and cranberry framed by fine nuances of spices, vanilla and toffee. A well-balanced and full-bodied wine, with very round tannins. Silky and structured on the palate. It has a rich, fruity, very long and pleasant finish.
