We have a mountain of exciting new scores to share with you, the first from Qaramy, and their results from Descorchados 2025.

Qaramy Alto 2022

94 points

"This is a malbec from any angle, even though the numbers say it has 10% cabernet sauvignon. It comes from the Los Árboles area, in the Uco Valley, on extremely stony soils. Aged for 18 months in barrels, this malbec is full of notes of flowers and ripe red fruits, some herbs that are classic in mountain wines in Mendoza. The texture is succulent, with firm acidity, but not at all aggressive. A pleasing and fluid expression, for meaty stews."

Qaramy Malbec 2023

93 points

"From a 20-year-old vineyard at Finca Qaramy in the Los Árboles area, planted on very stony soils in ancient riverbeds, 1,200 metres above sea level in the Uco Valley. This wine is, first of all, an excellent value for money, and then a source of furiously juicy red fruits and fierce, sharp tannins, while the acidity shines amid all that red fruit, in the middle of this little fiesta."

Qaramy Cabernet Sauvignon 2023

91 points

"The cabernet sauvignon from the Uco Valley is a hidden gem under the long, heavy shadow of the malbec. But if you are looking and curious, try this cabernet from the Los Árboles area. An example full of fruity and herbal notes, with the variety's muscular, powerful tannins that call for grilled meat. A mountain red with the sharp texture of wines aged in the heights of Uco."

Qaramy Latido Malbec 2024

"An excellent price-quality ratio. This shows a juicy and simple side of the variety, focused on ripe red fruits and flowers. The texture is very fluid, giving the sensation of freshness all the time. A direct approach to malbec without aging in oak. For every day."
